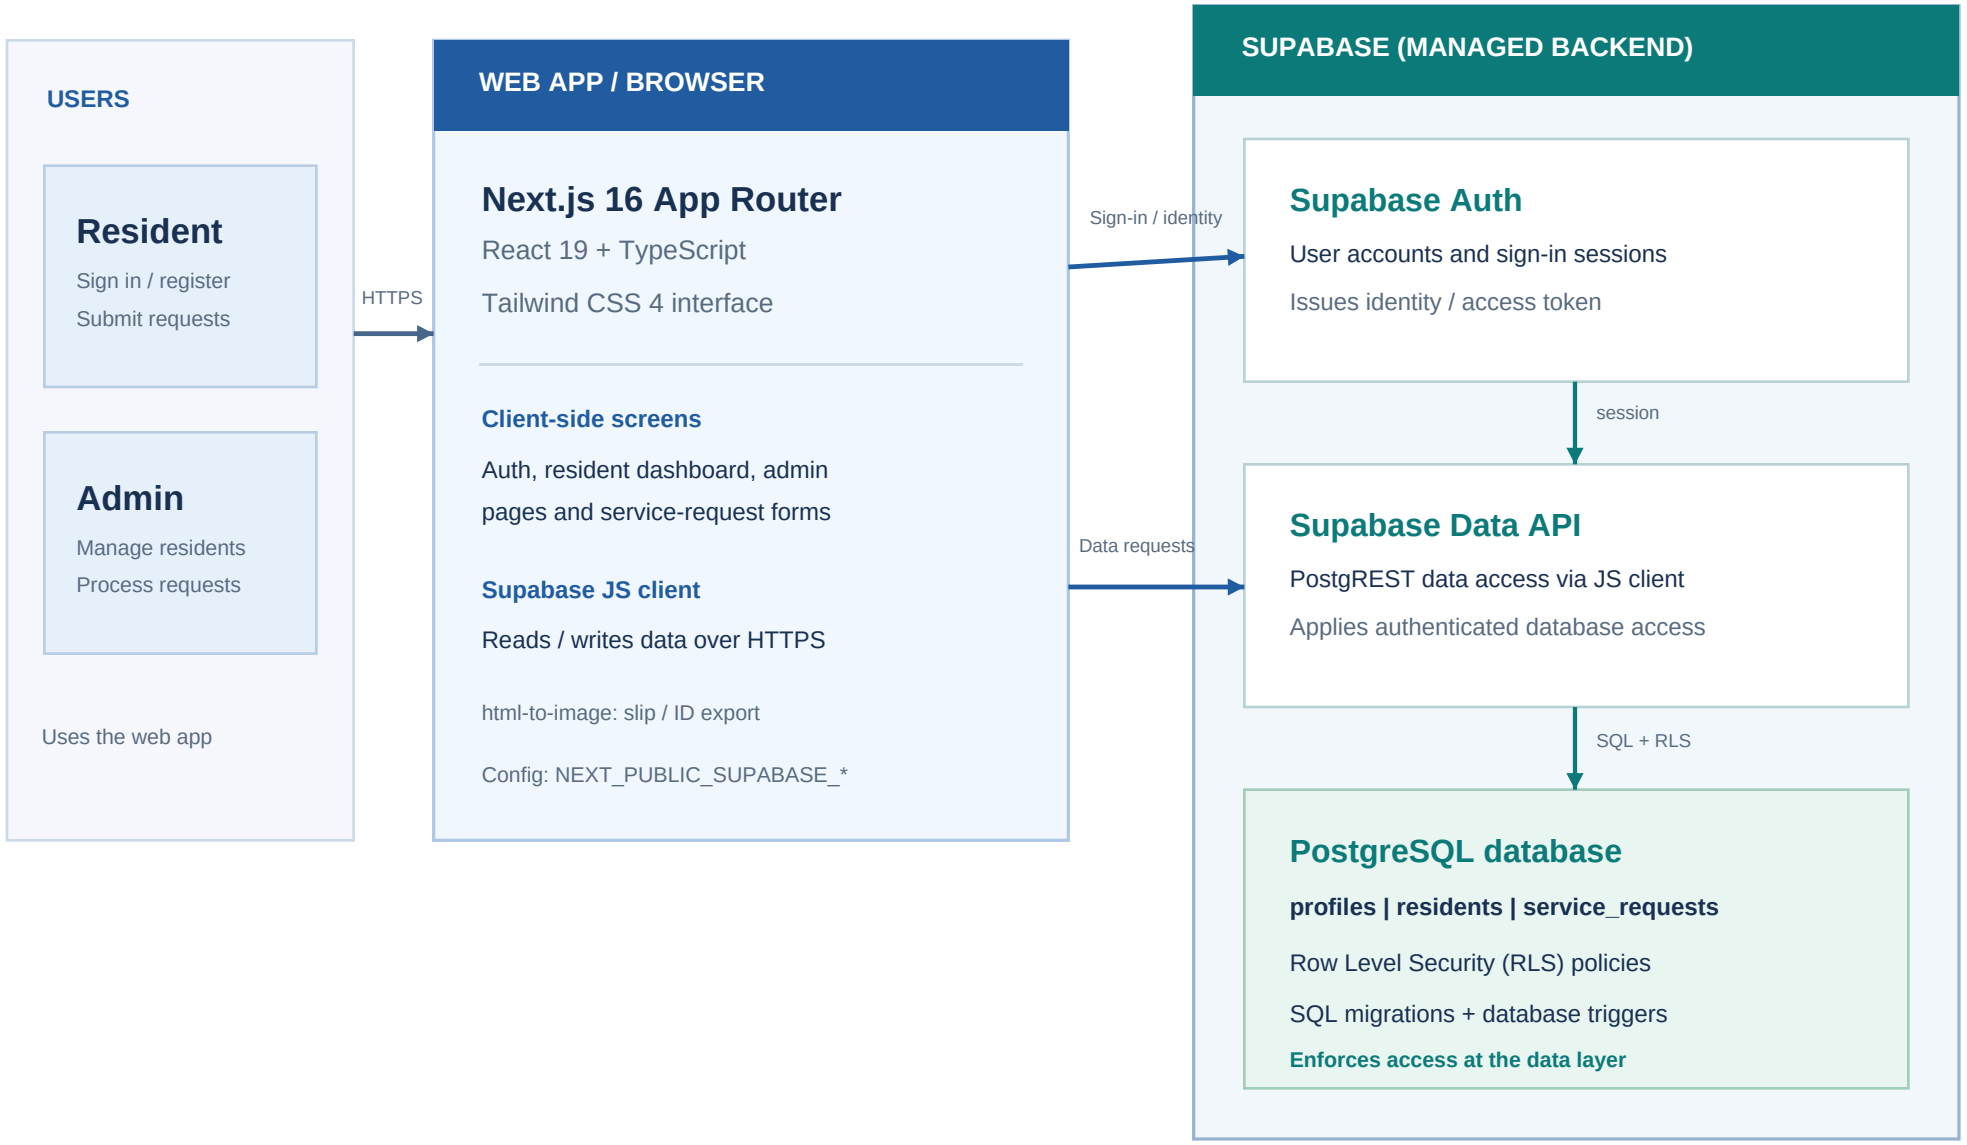
iMaporong - System Architecture

Browser-based application with direct Supabase services; no separate custom API server found in the repository.



Architecture summary

Users interact with the Next.js browser UI. The UI calls Supabase Auth and Data API directly; PostgreSQL stores application records and RLS policies control which authenticated users can access them.

Note: the repository does not establish a production hosting provider; add the actual deployment platform if known.